

Pax Christi Metro New York presents a one-day performance of Reap What You Sow, Don't Lose Heart
by PCMNY Peacemaker Jack Gilroy

This powerful play explores the inner conflict of a young woman who loves and respects her mother, a career military officer, while struggling with deep disagreements about war and patriotism.

The performance offers an excellent opportunity for post-show discussion. The Rising Together Theatre Company is touring the play and partnering with organizations like PCMNY to share it with wider audiences. PCMNY will receive half of the box office proceeds.

Scholarships are available for those who need them. Donations to support scholarships are welcome; donors will be acknowledged in the program.
